

91 Place is a transitional home for youth ages 16-24 who are experiencing homelessness. The Haven is a therapy center located on the Near East Side of Indianapolis, recently opened by 91 Place to provide therapy to their residents, alumni, and staff. With this position, we will also make therapy services available to individuals in our community who are aged 12-24 and experiencing homelessness or at risk of homelessness, and individuals who live in the 46201 zip-code.

The basic functions of this role are to provide individual and/or group psychotherapy as frequently as determined by the therapist, provide assessments and recommendations, and collaborate with other providers in the clients life. All services are provided in accordance with professional ethics and boundaries.

This position is a vital component of our programming, and serves the overall goal of diverting youth out of generational poverty and homelessness by creating a community of individuals of all ages who are able to identify and address the traumas and mental illnesses that so often contribute to long-term oppression.
